The Traffic Injury Research Foundation, a road safety research organization, is researching teen drivers. We already talked with your (mother/father/guardian) and (he/she) has given us permission to speak with you. The goal is to make the roads safer for teen drivers, their passengers, and other drivers. Your name was selected at random from a list of all teen drivers in Oregon and selection in no way means that there is a problem with the Department of Transportation (ODOT).

I want to assure you that I am not selling anything, and that this study is completely confidential and voluntary. Your responses to these questions will not be told to the State or your parents. There is no penalty for not doing the interview. The interview will take twenty minutes or less [depending on how fast we talk].

Do you have any questions about the survey before we begin?

PROBE: The Traffic Injury Research Foundation aims to reduce accidents involving teens who are learning to drive. [This study is necessary for (it/the Foundation) to listen to what people, like you, think about this issue.]

PROBE: The survey results will be available on the Internet for any person or community to see or use [in a few months].

Q:RECONTACT

T:

Lastly, we need to know if we can contact you again to determine your availability to participate in a computer-based assessment of your safety knowledge and driving skills.

You would need to come to this session at a location in your area.
The assessment would take from 2 to 3 hours and we will pay you upon completion of the assessment.

If you are selected for this computer-based assessment, do we have your permission to contact you again?

PROBE: At that time your questions about the computer-based assessment and how much you will be paid will be answered and you will have another chance to participate or to change your mind.
