Commencement Footnotes

The University's first commencement exercises were held in June 1878 in Deady Hall. Degrees were conferred upon four young men and one young woman.

The 1951 class will exceed one thousand students. Although classes have been larger since World War II, the University has reverted to its former practice of recognizing each graduate individually. Thus, the name of each student participating in the ceremony is called as he crosses the platform to receive congratulations from the President.

The 1951 program, like the 1950 one, will combine both Baccalaureate Services and Commencement Exercises. This change, which was so widely accepted last year, was made to encourage greater participation in the total program and to permit parents and students to return home the day of the ceremony.

All candidates for bachelor's degrees wear plain black gowns and black mortarboards. Candidates for advanced degrees wear the appropriate insignia of the academic degrees which they hold (except candidates for master's degrees, who are permitted to wear the insignia of that degree). Tassels for all caps are black, with one exception—it has become customary at the University of Oregon for members of Mortar Board, senior women's honorary society, to wear gold tassels.

It has also become customary at the University of Oregon for candidates for bachelor's degrees to change the tassel on their cap from the front left to front right as the degree is conferred.

The kinds and colors of gowns and hoods worn by members of the faculty designate the field in which the individual faculty member received his highest degree and the institution granting it.

Bachelor's gowns have pointed sleeves, master's long closed sleeves (with a slit for the arm) and doctor's gowns round, open sleeves. There are no trimmings on the gown for the bachelor's or master's degree; but gowns worn by holders of doctor's degrees are faced down the front with black velvet with three bars of black velvet across the sleeves. In some cases this trimming is in the color designating the field rather than black velvet.

Hoods are worn around the neck and over the gown. The hood worn for the bachelor's degree is three feet in length, that for the master's three and one-half feet and for the doctor's degree four feet. The hood worn for the doctor's degree only has panels at the sides.

The inside (lining) of the hood is of the official color of the institution granting the degree. The color of the outside of the hood indicates the field in which the degree was received. The most common are as follows: Arts and letters, white; commerce and accountancy, drab; dentistry, lilac; economics, copper; education, light blue; fine arts, including architecture, brown; humanities, crimson; law, purple; medicine, green; music, pink; philosophy, dark blue; physical education, sage green; science, golden yellow; theology, scarlet.
